Would you expect anything less from a retard like Scheissman?
Scheissman is an ignoramus and always will be. Perhaps some counseling would help him but I doubt that meds would even work.

around the house posting filth on the net. What a winner!!

It's like the fact that you hid from Heil and his wife. You hid from Tunder, and you've been running around hiding from the rest. But could you expect much more from a 50 year old momma's boy? Not to mention you've lied about your retesting, lied about everything else. Not as if anyone would believe you anyhow due to your record.

I think I can agree with this. Give a kid a car or whatever, and he's more likely to treat it badly. Make him work for it and he appreciates the value and shows the appropriate care with it..

Yea.... I understand that having to do the CW thing is more work and more likely that the licence will be valued, but what about putting the prospective ham through other, more rigorous hoops, like electronic theory, emcom, etc. Why won't more modern "hoops" work the same way to bolster the individual's respect for the service?

Thanks, Tom. I'm working through the test procedures in the (rather large) manual and am noting down the tests the machine doesn't pass. I just assume the y-magnifier circuits are seperate (at some point) between the polar and rectanguar trace display circuitry and that might help to pin the problem area down somewhat. I'm very good at troubleshooting (given a decent schematic) but have no experience with this particular instrument.

The numbers don't matter, quality does. Reasoning a service is good because it has lots of members, CB should be great then, but it's like a kindergarten.

The Armenian judges gave this a 9.8 on the Olympic Troll-O-Meter, but they were overruled by the umpires in instant replay, who awarded it a 2.6.

The Armenian judges lodged a formal protest!

It was sufficiently trollish, of course, but way too obvious.
It was poorly written, poorly executed, and was so incredibly lame as to lack the true drawing power of a really masterful troll. Maybe as high as a 3.1 for the intense stupidity of the Could anyone please suggest a type of COAX to use? I moved my tower away from my house recently and I just put it up about 200 ft from the back of my house. I recently passed CW and I had to take the tower down. The plan is to run the cable through 2" buried PVC.Anyway I havent been able CW since i took my tower down to get it away from my house, but I wanna get back on the key because I had alot of fun... plus it will get me back to studying for general...anyway I want to put the tower up right and I dont want to have a lot of loss... some of the QRP CW stations were hard enough to pull out of the static, even with that short 100ft LMR cable I was using before.

Thanks for the help

It will probably be a Balkanization of America with a serious poverty problem. With vast amounts of productive jobs being offshored, you can expect that poverty will worsen and not improve. Not to mention that working conditions will also decline. Not a pretty sight but greed is ruling the day.

I've had a day job for many years and have been working full-time and then some. Now Scheissman on the other hand who poses as whinyslit, peewee, and others is a full time welfare whore. I'm not on welfare nor have I ever been in the 15 years I've been working. Anyway, the main problem is a guy from WV that has been in here for years starting crap and he can't handle the fact that he is getting it shoveled back in his face.

In his case, are you saying that he has done something in International affairs? That explains why he was living with his momma right? At the tender ages of 40 through 50. I could give him some sympathy if he was some pimply faced kid at 20 years old but for goodness sakes. Age 50 and still no clue.

You should ask Roger how he garnered the attention of the FBI a couple years ago. Seems he was posting his usual filth (Lloyd stalking) on the Nim boards and using an FBI email address as a "reply to". Story is that some of the Nim dudes responded to his comments using the email address Roger gave and Lo! A month or so later two FBI Agents (a man and a woman) paid Roger a visit and had a little talk with him. Roger, of course, blamed this unwelcome attention on others who, he said, "set him up." Trouble with that was the Agents had his IP address and he couldn't weasel out of it. He was given a stern warning and then ceased using the FBI email addresses.
Woger even posted a couple or three nasty comments about the visit on Usenet and then said no more about it. I guess he thought we'd forget about it.
Now, wouldn't you think that anybody in his right mind would have learned from this? This guy has lost more accounts than we can count, has been tossed from a news server by Steve Geilda (sp?) and even had to be chastised by Chris Caputo for misusing Altopia. Caputo will not allow Roger to subscribe to Altopia (booted him off long ago) and once described Roger as a "nut case".
Poor Roger. He just doesn't get it. As one poster noted, Roger is fifty, going on thirteen. Even eighth-graders have more sense than he.

You dont specify the operating frequency.. If you are talking HF I doubt that coax quality is going to help with CW signals in the noise. Both the signal and noise will be attenuated by 'bad' coax but they will still have the same s/n at the RX. (ie atmospheric noise is far above RX noise)

I'd say that even at 10MHz using RG58 the losses arent excessive (about 1.5dB)

If you want better s/n I think you are going to have to experiment with directive antennas or other noise reduction techniques.

HA, HUNGARY (New Changes). Chris, HA5X, informs OPDX that "Effective May 25th, 2006, amateur radio regulations in Hungary have changed significantly, in many respects breaking with age-long traditions." Key changes that also affect the international HAM community are as follows:

- ECC REC (05)06 on the "CEPT Novice Licence" is implemented. Foreign visitors holding a "CEPT Novice Licence" can now work in Hungary using HA/home call. The CEPT Novice licence grants access to 160m, 80m, 40m, 15m, 10m, 2m, 70cm and 23cm bands with reduced power levels. Please look up rules before operating!

- Morse-code is no longer a requirement, VHF licencees can start using HF bands without changing their HG callsigns. A 6 WPM Morse proficiency exam is still necessary to make CW QSOs, unless the CW QSO is between two computers.

- Geographic call area numbers no longer exist in callsigns.

- Callsign rules are simplified, thus allowing for a wider choice of possibilities.

- A new, simplified entry level exam and licence will be introduced for youngsters and seniors later this year.

- Earlier licence levels are consolidated into two: "CEPT Novice" and "CEPT". All existing licencees get more privileges with this change.

You forgot American Youth, the requirement that non-whites wear distinctive patches, and the internment camps. I suppose in a pinch we could use Abu Grahib and Guantanimo Bay, so the last's covered. Of course Abu Grahib has a slight difficulty in being halfway around the world; at least Cuba's nearby. (We might have to negotiate with a certain Castro dictator first, but we're reasonably good at that; we supported the Shah and Saddam, after all, among others.)

There's the minor problem that we'd have to probably hire about 10 million cops to properly round up those citizens. Assuming a cop makes $25K/year, that's an expenditure of $250B/year. Cheaper than Iraq -- but not by much.

Sieg Heil, fellow citizens. :-) Oh...did I mention we'd all have to have a national, unforgeable identity card? (Plus at least 10 million card verifiers, some stolen, some modified? Cell phone tech might help here, though.)

Side note: there are probably simpler ways of killing illegal immigrants from undetectable bombers, than by using iron bombs. I might suggest a heavy gamma-ray source from a stable helicopter platform, similar to what news reporters use for nice, stable pictures today. This "GRASER", however, would probably be far too mysterious for the casual public -- invisible death-at-a-distance, especially at night (FLIR). However, done right, it would be very spooky, especially if the community doesn't understand the details about radiation poisoning ("Honey, why is my hair falling out?").

Note that 1 kiloWatt CW gamma ray GRASER exposure for a 200 kg man = 5 sieverts per second,and that LD_50 for radiation is 4.5 sieverts). Not quite strong enough (try holding a beam on a moving target for 1 second) but maybe 10 kW will do it. A technical challenge, to be sure, and it's probably simpler just to use a high-powered sniper rifle -- except for the noise, unless the bullet's supersonic (in which case the sniper gets exactly one shot).

One might also contemplate napalm jelly, that horrible outgrowth of the Vietnam war primarily designed, AFAIK, to kill people. After all, that's the objective -- to stop one's adversary, in this case a very lightly armed, rather disorganized infantry force (if one can call it even that, though they do employ troop carriers of a sort, more commonly known as "coyotes", sometimes leaving the illegals to die in the hot Arizona sun if spooked).

Land mines might be an interesting touch, in critical areas. I'd have to study the border; there's a fair number of issues.

Nice, flashy bombs do have a psychological effect, especially if one decides to call in a news chopper with aforementioned stable helicopter platform, this time loaded with its more conventional camera unit, for live pictures of the operation, on Mexican TV.

Any of these will also probably get us roundly condemned at the next UN meeting, but we could pull a China and say "don't get all worked up into a lather about our internal affairs". (Hey, it works for China.)

America, home of the free, land of the brave. Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free -- we lift our bombers and kill them all.

Doesn't quite work for me but no doubt someone in Madison Avenue (or the modern equivalent thereof) can work out the nastier bugs in the above poetry; they're good at selling things, after all.

Or maybe we're just as good at deluding ourselves.

1933. IMMATURITY On 14.275 Mhz. USB

Hi everyone:

Is it just me or has there been a tremendous amount of immature 11 meter-like activity on 14.275 Mhz USB??

I say this because I can [b]hear[/b] it with my ICOM IC-706 MKII-G and my mega-cheapo coathanger setup that I threw together which is plugged directly into the back of the radio.

Even when there have been legit QSOs on there, some a--hole Or a group of a--holes for all I know) would find some excuse to get on that freq. (or very close to it) and cause malicious QRM.

If these are licensed Hams, then they deserve to lose their licences. If they're bootleggers, I just hope they've got an IRA or two 'cause they'll need it to pay off the FCC.

To give you an example of what I've been hearing, I've heard just about anything and everything ranging from silly PC-originated sound effects to (Not even a half hour ago now) old Rocky & Bullwinkle clips.

If this is old hat to you old timers on the HF bands, then please excuse this post (I'm fully aware of the mess known as 14.313 BTW). Hopefully Riley Hollignsworth is monitoring over there and is taking action. ;)

If i can, I'll do a short video or two sometime (I'd rather do a video as then people will actually see what freq. the radio is tuned to as the cam will show it) with my Logitech QuickCam STX as its got a pretty good built-in mic so I don't need to stretch a long cord to plug to the line in jack. :) I'll then either send them to Riley via email or put them on a live page on my website for THE WHOLE WORLD to see and hear.

Gee....That's not a bad idea. Maybe if a few potty mouthed Hams found themselves on some Ham's website in a negative light, they just might change their ways before[b]Rilley[/b] catches them. ;D

Then again, if they're anything like K1MAN, they probably wouldn't even notice....

Anyhow...Just wanted to post a heads up for those of you who haven't been listening. :)

Cheers & 73 :)

Sorry dipshit, I'm still alive and know you are a forger. It just goes

That post there is a very good indictment of who Wiseman really is.
Interesting that the different posters on here that act as filthy have the same characteristics. It's a very damning case that he posts his crap. Of course, you know that he's going to flame us all about it again not that it really matters. It just goes to show what a socially inept misfit the guy is. What I find interesting is that he's usually on here at 9 to 11 in the morning posting his crap which is when most people who work day jobs are actually working. Now what employer would put up with that crap? It's not like the guy works a different shift or is self employed in which he could post.

I think there is nothing worse than a couple of old queens spreading their trash, on the air or in these groups.

New radios with all bells + whistles cheaper then a 20yr old as is doa rig

what kills hamfests is lack of interest

buyers of estate gear at dirp cheap prices
that markup to sell on ebay and hamfests.

And even cheaper when you buy it at the Hamvention - same rig in the store a day later is $50 more...

Sure, but the reason for the lack of interest is the crux of the situation.

>buyers of estate gear at dirp cheap prices
>that markup to sell on ebay and hamfests.

Some people gotta make a buck... But the Hamvention is coming back, I think - there were _definitely_ more people there than last year, and equal or more exhibitors both in the flea market and inside. We may yet get back to the state of affairs where there's 30,000 people coming to the Hamvention again, complete with a banquet and free buses, and buses to the motels. We can hope - its a great weekend.

We do need more ham radio gear and less outright junk in the flea market, tho.

14.275 is the new 14.313 Perhaps worse?

14.275 serves a USEFULL PURPOSE.
It draws all the toilet tics like cow flops draws horseflies. By so doing it keeps the rest of the bands clear for the rest of us.

Ham radio NEEDS it's own LOONEY BIN where all the goofballs can gravitate to. That freq is 14.275

Capeish ?

A savings of $50 is a hill-o-beans when the radio sells for 5G anyway and is buillt inside
like a cheap VCR (most Icoms fall into this category)

I was thinking more like a hi-end HT, at maybe $350 instead of the regular price of $400.

Not the Kenwoods I buy. I think ICOM makes some fine radios, too - they're pretty well respected, and most everybody wants a 756...

enematips.com explians howto get real drunk the way wisemen an I do.

"Beer or wine can be used, you will want them to be warm. Surprisingly you will get quite drunk. Possibly you will be dangerously drunk so you should be careful. It is a good idea to mix wine at half-strength the first time you use alcohol in an enema.

"Alcohol is absorbed much more quickly in the intestines than in the stomach, so you need to be really careful.

"Using hard alcohol is NOT A GOOD IDEA. You can die from this.

"It might be worth a mention that mixing drugs (alcohol in this case) and strange medical procedures can be a bad idea. "

Nope. He didn't he wasn't even home at the time the "visit" supposedly occured. If it did at all.

Let's see. You went from first saying that you weren't going to answer the door to the Heils, to calling them stalkers, to next claiming that "you" weren't home but your 'girlfriend' was there while "you" were at the store.
Now you are saying that this visit "supposedly" occurred.
You are a maniacal liar, Woger.

Porkbutt is a guy who has been off the air for at least 5 years. He reportedly turned in his ticket to the FCC, he says by mistake, they say by intent. Old story.

I do see a few Michigan plates around here, but most are New York,
New Jersey, and New Hampshire. There are also a few Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Pennsylvania plates. Of course they've all left for the Wrong Markie, nobody admitted to being there. It was Roger's girlfriend

Lloyd Oh my the loser is back. Hey how come I missed you at the Dalton
HamFest
this past spring? You talked all that crap and then was missing from the air
the news group and everything. Darn Lloyd I was looking so forward to
"meating you"! You don't have a HF rig? Damn I can remeber many nights you jammed Dan
and I. Not only are you a LOSER but a LIER TOO! Why don't you craw back into that hole and just go back to hiding you worm! If you don't believe I was there

here are some photos http://www.dirtball.com/dalton.html
I still think your a loser!
Oris
N4CND

Then you hid behind your fithy HUD apartment door when Oris came visiting a couple of Christmases ago:
This was e-mailed to me this morning by Oris Grim an old friend.

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I deceided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

Oris Grimm

Like you hid behind your front door?

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I deceided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

you'd get that training wheel no code tech. You sure can't pass any Unfortunately, it appears not too well..

...is not an answer to my question and this question provides no clue.
It implies I said that more jerks will result from those that will always be there...I think. or that I want more...

OK, 85% is another kind of hoop. but Please answer my "Why" question.

> > I believe this is true, but what is you reason for stating this? Are > > you glad this is happening or sad or indifferent?

> The numbers don't matter, quality does.

OK, so this seems to answer my other question. While I agree, that in a perfect world I would also restrict licences to only those who have a decent head on their shoulders...however, do _you_ trust _me_ to decide whose head is good?

These are my last questions:
Do you believe:
1- CW and 85% on exams will prevent or seriously limit the number of knuckleheads who sneek through?

2- That I am lying when I tell of some no-code techs that I personally know are the most serious, level headed and law abiding hams I know?
3- That I am lying when I tell you that I also know some very good hams who came up through CB and are just as law abiding when on the ham bands as anyone, just as serious about being good citizens, do emergency prep work and help others?

> Reasoning a service is good because it has lots of members,

[is incorrent reasoning] is what the implied completion of that sentence is.

I agree. There have been and are some pretty wacko organizations.
...but...

CB should be great then, but it's like a> kindergarten.
Is a gross generalization. How often do you listen? How many "CB'ers" have you recently talked to?

I listen once in a while just to see what's going on and be able to speak with first hand knowledge, and do hear some garbage, but I also hear of how it has helped in aread and ther ewere no hams around to help. Also, some areas have been worse than others,

1- I believe you have a limited view of CB [and no, I haven't been a "CB'er" but I have carried a radio on a few, I think two long trips where I would have trouble getting into repeaters for long periods.]. I have been helped by "CBers".
2- what percentage of CB users are jerks?
3- What percentage of hams are jerks? then...
4- What percentage of jerks makes the service bad?

My suggestions
CW optional as it is now for ALL modes, but remove from the tests...except possibly for Extra - my jury's still out on this.
85-87% on tests, but Much more on propagation, antenna systems and emergency station operations and emergency communications and laws.

Then some others in the "if I were Amateur Radio Service God" department...
Currency requiremets like pilots that include familiarity recent developments.
Proof of license, and that you can understand, explain and operate at least 90% of the functions on a radio in order to buy.
If I wanted to be an old timer, I'd also require construction of something...knowledge of the history of ham Radio.
Then being more modern, something like proficiency in software, digital modes and satellite ops.
Gee, I should spend more time on these.... not. More important fish to fry.

Sorry, guys, I just couldn't resist a little chain jerking here.
73, Steve, K9DCI

At lease I got sc to answer a few questions ... sort of.

Don't project your filthy tendencies on people, it just shows the low character of your nature. What would be interesting is that if you said any of these things to my face, you would find your ass on the ground.
Then again, I doubt your even man enough to get in my face. Then again, it might be a smart move on your part seeing how you would get your ass whipped.

Yes, I could make one, and probably will. But thought I'd ask anyway.

Let's see. You went from first saying that you weren't going to answer the door to the Heils, to calling them stalkers, to next claiming that "you" weren't home but your 'girlfriend' was there while "you" were at the store.
Now you are saying that this visit "supposedly" occurred.
You are a maniacal liar, Woger.

2180. I want your enema stories for web site

I am starting an enema erotica contest. The good folks of Glendale have agreed to supply the prizes and the results will be edited and posted here. If you have the desire to write some steamy enema erotica and would like it posted prominently, send it to me. I will post it online and you will receive approximately $40 worth of enema equipment from my private brewery.

Here is what to include:

1. Your story. Just e-mail it in text form to me. The minimum amount of formatting the better. Plain text in an e-mail is probably best. Write slowly because I am a slow reader.

2. Your street address for me to send you the prize. Don't worry, I won't send you anything else.

3. Any preference you have for enema equipment or anything else you want that has a value of $40 or so let me know. I will see what I can do.

Rules: You cannot lift or copy these stories from another site. You should create the story yourself. There is no minimum length or maximum either. Figure a solid page is a good start. There is no deadline. Winners are chosen and posted at any time.

The contest is open to anyone worldwide (except Steve and Wisemen). I will ship prizes to over 70 countries so I should be able to get a prize to you.

e-mail to me.

Mark, I could care less about you or your fans, but I had your screen nics kill filed, along with your fans. They still respond to you, so this constant changing of screen nics is just so you can be sure everyone else can see your problems, well most don't care. This is straight from your TOS, so please read carefully

(g) to bombard individuals or newsgroups with uninvited communications, data or information, or other similar activities, including but not limited to "spamming", "flaming" or denial or distributed denial of service attacks.

(l) to post or transmit information or communications that are defamatory, fraudulent, obscene or deceptive, including but not limited to scams such as
"make-money-fast" schemes or "pyramid/chain" letters;

p) to generate excessive amounts (as determined in our sole discretion) of Internet traffic, or to disrupt net user groups or email use by others;

Now I'm sure there are more than enough people that are willing to take your posts, copy them including headers and send them to techsupport@Hughes.Net & Abuse@Hughes.Net and make complaints, but all you really have to do is stop responding & changing nics to bypass newsgroups filters.

I will save you posts, as I have done with the others, then kill file your latest screen nics, but please heed this little bit of advise and stop changing your screen nics

Hi, I'm in San Diego and I've been hearing the infamous Los Angeles repeater W6DEK 147.435 (former W6NUT) retransmitted on 448.940 MHz. Searching the web indicates that Lotus ARN owns these '448.94's in a couple of places in SoCal.

Does anybody know if W6DEK has linked up with Lotus's repeaters or maybe bought them out I haven't heard any news on it. I seem to be able to hit the 940 repeater but it doesn't relay to the 435. Thanks!

Lloyd Oh my the loser is back. Hey how come I missed you at the Dalton
HamFest
this past spring? You talked all that crap and then was missing from the air
the news group and everything. Darn Lloyd I was looking so forward to you"! You don't have a HF rig? Damn I can remeber many nights you jammed Dan
"meating
and I. Not only are you a LOSER but a LIER TOO! Why don't you craw back

into that hole and just go back to hiding you worm! If you don't believe I was there
here are some photos http://www.dirtball.com/dalton.html
I still think your a loser!
Oris
N4CND

Then you hid behind your fithy HUD apartment door when Oris came visiting a couple of Christmases ago:
This was e-mailed to me this morning by Oris Grim an old friend.

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I deceided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

Oris Grimm

Wrong again, Lardass, you are the one on welfare and food stamps, and only work that loser pizza boy high schooler's job because you have no education and the food stamps can't buy that womanly Bud lite beer you drink, Lardass!

The 27 mpg happens mostly on long trips. I might have been a bit optimistic to apply that number to the drive from our motel to the Hamvention, but I can get 24 doing it, if I don't hit the gas too hard getting on the interstate. Of course, the interstate is done on cruise control, and the area is flat, so no hill climbing, or not much, anyway.

This is a vanilla WRX, not an STI, and yes, I pass 'em all the time. Its just that I use cruise control a lot, at +7 of the speed limit, and that does pass some people. I mostly pass 'em when they pull off the road to whiz, get gas, eat, or one of several other delays that I minimize. I don't usually stop at all until the car needs gas. This seems to make for good mileage.

BWHAHAHAHA Oh, the irony, Lardass plagiarizes statements about suicide from Roger Wiseman. But you are a loser who can't pass the code or

I am 30 years old. I have a no-code tech ham license. I have tried for [Ed Note: You haven't lose any weight, Lardass, per your neighbors and

The next thing is my politcal and religous views. Yes, I am a born a crime I ask? I would'nt think so, but some folks think it is. I used to post a lot of off-topic rants and other stuff. Have not done that sort of thing in great qunaties in a few years now. I rarely ever post here. I did used to post alot about the Tiny Tenna too. But that has passed too.

[Ed Note: More lies]

Well, hope this helps you. I'm sure I'll get kicked for this post as

You are an illiterate, retarded imbecile that hasn't got the mentality
to grasp your own illiterate retarded imbecility. You don't possess the normal traits that normal humans do - you are a useless freak of evolution - a retarded Neanderthal that has only evolved to the point

Back in the day when I got my Advanced, my Tech class Elmer pointed out that if you don't know the code, how do you know what repeater you're on?

Most automated identifications are still Morse code and it is still legal.

It is sad that Morse code is so under utilized. It is a testimony to the lack of interest in the greatest tool for weak signal work. If you have no interest in learning Morse code, than you affirm that your communications capabilities should be limited to voice capabilities. Who in emergency communications believes that their capabilities should be limited by a lack of expertise? Perhaps they believe that emergency commumications should be restricted to FRS? Rediculous!

Still, we see even avid DXers throw in the towel on a weak one when Morse code would have cut through the pile-up in a heart beat. A friend in High School made DXCC in 2 years on CW only, with a 100 watt radio and dipoles!

The fact remains that those who hate the code are clueless to its effectiveness. Their only defense is ignorance. Sad!

You made good points until your last paragraph. I do not have the time nor desire to learn the code. If I were to learn it long enough to pass the test and never use it from day to day, then it will soon be forgotten. I think that if a person wants to advance, code should be part of the process and tested on a regular basis, but also have restrictions for those that do not or cannot use code or the hobby will fade away. To do away with the code would be wrong as it has it's uses, but to expect everyone to learn it keeps fresh blood from entering into a noble but dying hobby.

No. If they're too lazy to learn CW they can stick with CB, FRS, Cell Phones, and two tin cans with a piece of string in between.

Maybe you have a few CB buddies you'd like to see get licensed, and dumbing things down will help, I don't know. Outcome based licensing. No one wants to be a ham if they have to work a little harder for the license and so no one wants to support having a good test to get one.

after you just lied clearly Lloyd davies passed something to get his license
(and, unlike Wiseman, Lloyd didn't receive any "fan letters" from Riley Hollingsworth nor was made to take his Ham Radio tests a second time in order to keep his license)

Another self proclaimed superior ham perpetuating the myth that CBers are too dumb to pass the test. Keep that rift between hams and CBers and your hobby will die an agonizing death. You have yourself to blame.

Well said....the greedy bastards who shop before the starting gun have been responsible for more people not coming back than anyone wants to admit.

And the clueless sellers who feed these buzzards are fools since it is clear that they could get more money for thier wares if they would wait till the starting time and raise their prices.

Scheissman would know all about doing that with a VE. After all, how else did you think that he would pass that retest. 2 Test. By the way Scheissman, did you ever get that shitty station of yours on the air.
It's funny because I listen to 20 meters and 75 meters all of the time and never hear you on the air. Then again it's doubtful that you can even cut a resonant dipole for 20 meters much less 75 and also the fact you have a postage stamp yard. Because it's not like you have the skill to even install a decent vertical.

That's why he chickened out when he got the two visits from his neighbors. He knows that if he stepped out he would get his clock cleaned. It would be even funnier if a lady done it. I am sure that when Maria was around he sat there and told her "Mommy, those big bullies are from his eyes telling mommy how much of a useless moron he really is.

Scheissman's ignorance snipped. Scheissman, did you ever figure out how to count not using your fingers and toes. Are you such a loser not to be able to communicate with your pea sized brain?

You hid and you know that you hid behind the door. You're just lying by saying that your so called girlfriend was there. That way you can cover for allegedly not being there. Just another lie. Poor Scheissman.

The only thing that sucks more than you is a vacuum cleaner and that's debateable. As far as calling anyone a lardass, Scheissman is portly porker himself. Muahahahahha. Stop eating those burgers Scheissman.

I got an amazing 39+ mpg from a 2.3L FWD Ford Tempo once, headed over White Bird Hill into Grangeville, Idaho. Three weeks later the transmission bit the dust.

You couldn't be a player if you tried. No antenna, no amplifier, nothing. What a loser. Try again next time. Maybe someday you will finally get a decent signal on the air. Because I can't even hear you on either 75 or 20 at all whether it is day or night. Why is that? Because you can't put up a decent antenna on that postage stamp yard at that dump where you live. You can't afford even a decent radio? Even an entry level rig? You can't put together an antenna? Even a resonant dipole for 20. Why is it Scheissman that you can't even put a signal on the air.

I find it funny that you're always bragging about your amateur radio exploits yet cannot put together a station. Did that 920 dissappear or did you forget how to screw in the coax to the radio. Or is it like the rest of you, hidden behind some curtains? Anyway, when are you going to be on the air next time, I am sure that some people on here would love to talk to you.

Hi all.
A friend was tidying out his house and gave me a few radio related items to sell for him.
Among them were the items pictured on the following site - take a look-http://www.qsl.net/gm7pok/

There's a wheatstone bridge. Lovely piece of gear (excuse the dust, it shows up bad in the photo). Made by Pye, and its owner thinks its circa WW2.
A galvanometer made by Shimadzu Seisakusho Ltd, Japan (try saying that when you're drunk). Its dated 1959 and has no doubt been used with the wheatstone bridge.
Also what appears to a be a multi meter, also made by the lengthily named Japanese company above. Maybe about the same vintage.

Its all in reasonable condition, despite the scratches which show up under flash photography. But I don't know if they work.

Anybody tell me anything about these things? Especially what they may be worth.

Thanks

I've had him killfiled by IP address range for quite some time now.
He can nym shift all he wants, but neither he nor "Billy Smith" can escape the r.e. filters

NNTP-Posting-Host: ^4\.22[4-8]\.

where the last one kills all posts from superfeed.net, possibly a second NSP of his. Lately, I've also killfiled all posts which contain the string "googlegroups.com" in either the Message-ID header or in the References header. That kills all Google posts and all followups to them, and cleans up the rec.radio hierarchy very nicely.

Only lusers use Google to post anyway, so it's no loss at all to killfile the whole site. If you check news.admin.net-abuse.usenet, you'll see that there's an active discussion about disconnecting Google from Usenet entirely (other news servers will refuse to carry Google posts at all). It seems that Google is the biggest problem source all across the news groups, and the admins are fed up with Google's lack of responsible action.

Hey, Lardass, try putting a question mark after a question, dumbass.

>Those same comments reflect

No, Lardass, they are aimed squarely at you and hit right on the bullseye. Like I have always said, you are an imbecile who doesn't know what he's talking about. I just proved it (as if it were needed...), now go take your anti-depressant medication and shut the fuck up.

You know, Porky, it's always a pleasure to see you make a fool of yourself and to PROVE that you are a clueless idiot and you should probably avoid discussing something so obviously you know nothing about. So you should log off the internet permanently and shut the fuck up now.

> Scheissman has a job <more plagiarism, since Les gave Lloydie the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama name>

And you don't anymore, huh, fired Pizza BOY! And you are already known as the king of knob jobs, you fat queer.

Behold he shall ride upon a hard dick and his name shall be Lloyd Austin Davies.

And it came to pass that the king of knob jobs in Alabama, (as Lloyd is known) was gone for a long time, and some of the people celebrated and some speculated that he had died, some speculated that he was ill, some speculated that he was in Maryland at Ray Chason's apartment, and some even thought that the king of knob jobs in Alabama had been made a sex slave by Ray Chason and his butt buddies. It was then the people started to rejoice.

And when the niggers and crackheads heard the murmuring and rumours of the people they assured them that the king of knob jobs in Alabama was just busy sucking on one of his nigger neighbors' big black dicks and would address the people as soon as he could swallow that big load of nigger jizz. The neighbors in his hud apartment complex also knew that the project was the sucking of nigger dicks and telling lies and more lies, but they did not tell the people this for they did not desire to have a vice squad nightmare in the city of Deliverance Extras. Alabama liked to hear about the fat retarded one who proclaimed he was the king of knob jobs in Alabama.

And the niggers and crackheads reassured the people that everything was all right, and told them to prepare pyres and to cook meat, and to ice down beer and nehi soda, and to go out and buy potato chips and other unhealthy snacks from the traders who had immigrated to the kingdom from Vietnam and the land of Gaza. And so the went down to these little stores owned and bought these things. And they went home and warmed up their TV's, for the sabbath approached and the sabbath would bring more action from the mediocre football team at U of Alabama, and the sabbath would bring plenty of exciting nob gobbling action and goo gobbling from the king of knob jobs in Alabama.

The king of knob jobs in Alabama in reality is a ghastly pale porker who stands only 5'6" and weighs an unhealthy 290 Lbs. His skin is as white as copying paper due to his night job of delivering pizzas to the ghetto neighborhood where he dwells in a filthy, roach infested HUD hovel. He doesn't venture outside during the daylight hours, instead preferring to play with Star Trek and Dalek dolls, post lies and filth on the internet and jack off to thoughts of his unrequited love interest Roger Wiseman and dream of finally actually getting some pussy. Not stick pussy, which his homosexual lover Steve Holsten feeds him several times a year when Lloyd goes for his visits, usually around Thanksgiving.

Lately, the king of knob jobs in Alabama has been consumed with posting pictures of someone he says is Roger Wiseman. In fact, the obviously botched purple rendering of somebody else has been cut and pasted, photoshopped and distributed all over the internet by the king of knob jobs in Alabama and his homosexual fantasy lover Ray Chason who is the king of knob jobs in Maryland. Chason who is also a porker has set up a blog of Roger's ex-wife "Regina" telling even more lies. Roger wasn't ever married to anyone named Regina. Of course Chason and Lloyd refuse to let truth get in the way of their lies, like their butt buddy friends who post lies, lies and more lies about anybody who reveals the truth about this band of homosexual predators.

Headers can be deceiving. I don't use OE, although I let my news reader generate generic OE headers for reasons of my own. I use one of two free news readers (Xnews or slrn) to do the filtering, depending upon which computer I'm using. Both can handle regular expression string matching on any part of a post, and that's what needs to be done in order to deep six the nym shifters.

Poor Billy all he has is cheapassed third hand used equipment. He sure

Because since 2000 you haven't had a station worthy of doing anything.
Face it, you're a 50 year old loser who lived with his momma for 10 years straight. No job, nothing until to old hag kicked off and gave you a house. The real reason no one ever hears you on HF is because you don't have a signal or a station for that matter. Didnt you sell that 920 for beer money. Ever since you got your wings clipped in retesting

You sure don't! Also a very bad assumption and groundless..Also wrong, not to mention irrelavant to my words and position. I said that I already know HAMS who came from the CB side (only because they either told me directly, or I overheard then discuss it on the air) ---whom I met as Hams.
They are top notch hams in every way.
I don't do CB, but have an old Morotola 40 CH AM unit because I want to have as much communications capability to handle any eventuality in an emergency. It would have been helpful in a serious malicious repeater interference situation a number of years ago when I didn't have even 27 MHz receive capability and it heloed solve and catch the perps.

> Outcome based licensing.

You'll have to explain the meaning of this.

> No
> one wants to be a ham if they have to work a little harder for the license

False generalization " On one..." and "harder" than what?

This was dis proved by one of the posters responding to you who said somethin like he wa looking forward to learning CW etyc... Unbeknownst to you, there are people who do value things for their own sake and will enjoy the feeling of self accomplishment..

> and so no one wants to support having a good test to get one.

Well here IS one. I support a much harder test in the areas I previously outlined. I DO agree that the CW hurdle can be one which makes us value the license to a significant degree...HOWEVER, I believe it is not the ONLY thing which can have this effect, as you appear to believe. I do do CW, enjoy those contacts, marvel at the ability to QSO with any country / language with it and feel (alittle special being) part of an esoteric group that knows it. However, it doesn't make me a better person simply because I know it. My value derives from a deeper value.
Knowing that Hams were a VERY significant factor in communications for 9/11, the SE Asia tsunami and Katrina makes me feel good and I bet there were many code-less hams involved.

I'm a "techie" and would love to require everyone to build something and explain something regarding electronics in much greater depth than on the current tests. I also KNOW that this will not guatantee an all around "good" ham. I also enjoy the diversity of those I meet on the air that aren't Electrical Engineers or Technicians.

I think that if your position was valid there would haave been no jerk hams in the past, when CW was on all tests.

Why was Knowledge of Morse there in the first place? Understanding this in full context is, I believe, critical to cussions on this issue.

If you can't conceed that any of my points have any validity, than so be it. It is your right. But I find you very closed minded and unable to intelligently discuss a complex issue in a mature way. It is your right and I'll also deffend your right to have your opinions. If for no other reason, it allows me (and hopefully others) to more firmly and intelligently form and understand mine.

73, Steve, K9DCI Always willing to show my true identity. and hopefuly express thoughtful and well reasoned viewes along with correct and understandable technicial explanations for others.

As I said in another post, I don't really use OE. You can go to http://www.download.com/3000-2164-10144167.html and find a free newsreader called xnews which will use the filtering expressions I listed. It borrowed its scoring system from another free news reader called "slrn," so that either news reader will work with the same set of rules. I use slrn under Linux and xnews under Windows.

Xnews doesn't need to be installed. You just extract it from the distribution zip file and start running xnews.exe immediately. Setup takes place the first time you run it.

If you insist on using OE, you can download the free program called Nfilter. It runs in series with your current news reader to add additional filtering abilities. It isn't maintained any longer, but is available from http://www.nfilter.org/

I'll publish part of my current score file, even though it will give some of the nym shifters additional info. The xnews / slrn score file allows you to specify filtering rules for each news group or for a collection of groups. You do that by enclosing the name of the group(s) in square brackets.

After the bracketed name of the groups, you specify a score. I don't bother with elaborate scoring, and instead give all matches a score of -9999. That causes the matching posts to be killed.

So, for all of the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy, plus the flame_fest news group, you can use the following score file (lines starting with
"%" are comments). Text case is ignored by default, so "get help" matches "GeT HElp" when specified below.

======(cut here)======
[rec.radio.amateur.*,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest]
score:: -9999

It is a shame that Wiseman is such a low-life bottom feeder that he feels it is "sport" to make caustic comments about a much loved, deceased daughter of a fellow Ham.
Remember that Wiseman is delusional at best. He hears voices. He believes that he is an avenger, a 'liberator' through lies and make-believe. His entire life is a fantasy.
He has lived with demons for most of his life and can no longer keep them at bay despite his many medications. No matter how tightly Woger closes his blinds, shuts himself off from reality, he cannot keep the demons at bay. The demons keep slipping through, howling, keening, and haunting to prey upon what is left of Roger's decaying mind.
Roger has closed the shades of his mind, but the demons are always there, yowling and taunting and he cannot shut the voices out. Oh! The pain! He'd give anything if these demonic leopards would give him but one day of peace. One day of normalcy. But the demons are always there and he hears their pained cries even as he clasps his hands over his ears and cries out in silent agony. His is a tortured soul.
Forgive Roger if you can. Pray for him if you can't.

Langley Park had just recently bought two (2) printing presses for the purpose of publishing The Demented Otaku Magazine (DOM). The magazine will take the place to the Demented Otaku BBS and Demented Otaku Lolicon board. The boards were shut down after some rat bastards complainted to Ctitech that the site contained child pornography. So to by pass the problems with Ctitech we will publish the material with the printing presses.

The first ads in DOM have already been sold to the Miller Brewing Comany and will feature Mark Morgan, kb9rqz, as its Spokes Orifice. He will be shown in the ads with anime characters helping him enjoy Miller beer in his own special way.

So Ctitech, "NEENER, NEENER, NEENER!!!!"

Listen at: http://www.ourmedia.org/node/231317

Background:
Tired of listening to Led Zepplin or NPR on your I-Pod? Wouldn't you like to be able to carry with you the kinds of ham radio conversations that you listen to while in your radio shack?
Mike, KL7R, in Juneau, Alaska, and Bill, M0HBR, in London, England meet regularly on the ECHOLINK system to discuss their homebrew radio projects. We are making them available as PODCASTS.

NEW RSS FEED: You can subscribe to the program, have them downloaded to your MP-3 player, and listen to them at your convenience. To subscribe, just cut and paste this URL into your I-poder (or similar) software. We've been having trouble with our Ourmedia RSS feed, so Mike (software wizard that he is) has homebrewed his own RSS feed. In order to subscribe to SolderSmoke, point your podcast software to:

http://kl7r.ham-radio.ch/soldersmoke.rss

If you don't have an MP3 player you can just go to the site below and listen to the latest program (and earlier editions) using the audio software on your computer.

http://www.ourmedia.org/node/231317

Here's the homepage for our show. All our programs are available here. There is also a blog and links to some of the sites and documents we've been discussing: http://www.ourmedia.org/user/36170

We hope you enjoy the program. Please send us feedback.

You are a Wiseman clone, dysfunctional boy. Everyone despises you and laughs at you.

My point has been made. Now I'm gone from this thread.

First off, Markie, I have parents. I have a mommy and daddy, just like you.
OK, so you have one up on me. You know who your mommy and daddy are and I don't. I know who my mommy is, but just because I don't know who my daddy is doesn't make you better than me, dumbass. Big fucking deal.
I grew up without a lot of parental influence and I turned out just fine, didn't I? I have a degree and almost have another one, unlike you who had to get a GED when you turned forty.
I own my own house and it is paid for, unlike your HUD apartment, Pizza Boy.
I have a nice car with low miles on it and my Yugo is paid for, unlike your car Pizza Boy.
Unlike you, Markie, I am a veteran. I spent four years in the Air Force cleaning toilets and washing tables in the officers mess hall. I got to know a lot of powerful Lt. Colonels, Seamen (a Navy thing) , and Generals and have influential friends in high places. You still look for Boy Scouts to give you enemas. The younger the better, right?
At least I learned how to drink beer the right way, Markie. I swallowed it and didn't pour it up my ass like you prefer.
My offer is still open, Markie Boy. Come visit me any time you want if you have the balls. If you do visit me you better bring a buddy. Why? Because you will need a buddy to cover my back door to watch me run out of the back of my paid for house while you are knocking on my front door. Dumbass Hi-El should have sent his wife around to my back door when he visited. They didn't see me sneak out and take off down the alley.

Oh, wait. I wasn't home when Dave claims he knocked on my door. I was at the store. That is my latest lie and I am sticking to it. My mail order girlfriend was home, but I wasn't. If Dave would have looked in the window he'd have seen my girlfriend on the couch. I inflated her just a few moments before he arrived.
So there, dumbass.

The FCC is not requiring specific testing for PSK31, RTTY, Hellschreiber, Olivia, etc. and all those modes seem to be used pretty extensively on all the bands. Not to mention, programs like MixW and especially MultiPSK do an excellent job of sending a receiving CW. I see all the modes continuing to flourish in the future even if a specific test for one mode (CW) goes away.

The only issue with APRSPoint is that support and upgrades are sorely lacking. The Yahoo group he runs is censored so that any suggestions or criticisms of his product are not posted. He needs to really upgrade this program. It is one of the most expensive and also has the least amount of features. Nice start, but the author needs to really spend some time getting this program up to where all the other APRS programs are in functionality.

Yes. Using Xnews, I can accomplish the same thing. I have googlegroups.com killed off in quite a few groups.

Naturally, posts there can be reported to abuse, if you go to google groups and flag the articles to be sent to abuse.

Of course, who is to say Google pays the slightest bit of attention to abuse complaints.

It is indeed peaceful. I see very few flame posts. Those people simply do not exist to my newsreader.

Xnews is one of the two news readers that I use regularly (the other is slrn). I don't understand why people don't download it and start using it instead of sticking to clients like OE or Mozilla / Netscape.
You don't even have to install xnews - just unpack it from its zip file and start using it.

I have reported several abusers here in the rec.radio.amateur.*
hierarchy, but I don't even get a bot reply back from Google any longer. My conclusion is that Google simply doesn't give a damn.
Google really needs to be UDP'ed by its peers, because it will otherwise not pay attention.

There is only one downside, and that is the large number of people who refuse to use any news reader that didn't come with their computer or their web browser. They eventually give up and wander away, and the on-topic posts slow down to a trickle.

To those people: Please try the link

http://www.download.com/3000-2164-10144167.html

and download the free xnews news reader. Unpack it from its zip file and give it a try. You'll be able to clean out the Google 'tards and resume using the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy. Don't just wander away;

Well, if they go unconnecting google from usenet, I will then have no way at all to post to usenet from work. That illustrious organization has a firewall that prevents connection of _any_ usenet news reader to _any_ news server, so asking a tech question in one of the computer newgroups just won't happen.

The "security" obsession is rapidly negating the usefulness of the internet. Corps and gov. agencies just keep restricting and restricting their connections, and the net keeps becoming less and less useful.

Hell, if we had to have a "secure" military the way we seem to have to have a "secure" network to serve the military, the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines would all just stay in the USA behind 9' high barbed wire fences, and we would lose every war that anyone decided to declare.

I think we need to look at some really sophisiticated backup, instead of these extremes in "security", so if something happens, we just roll the system back to an effective time before whatever it was happened, begin intercepting subsequent incoming attacks, and continue with a useful internet.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this

Davies really is.

Even if I could learn the CW, I'm too stupid to pass the written test.

I have this congenital problem, you see. Life is NOT good for me.
I suffer from Microcephalic Dwarfism and I've been afflicted with it since I can remember.
Definition: These syndromes associate growth retardation with microcephaly and various facial anomalies.

My forehead is smaller than that of a normal person and my cranial cavity is little larger than that of a Florida orange. My sloping forehead has only one advantage in that it allows me to insert it into my rectal cavity with little or no pain. While less than comfortable, and while it impedes clear speech I am able to keep my ears warm in the coldest of climates, but those are the good points.

I have suffered from extreme retardation all my life and have recently been considering placing my head in the oven. I am betting that the accumulated yeast in my mouth will aid me in blowing my head off at 350 degrees, thus ending it all.

You guys have no idea of what torture it is to live with my afflictions. You will miss me when I am gone.

Most of the poor ass bastards in this group couldn't even figure out how to QRM anything even if they wanted to. Plus, it would be funny watching them get busted. All for being a stupid ass. Of course, they will be like Don Quixote and fire up their 100 watt peanut whistles and pull their same old shit. Of course, the dumbasses don't even have an amplifier. I suspect that most of the jammers aren't very bright or they would figure out that it's going to take a lot more to do the job. That way the sooner their dumb asses do it, they will finally get flagged by the Commission.

Meanwhile you mooched off your mommy from the tender age of 40 all the way up till she died. Of course, you're still mooching off her estate when you got that filthy house that goes for 27,000 on a postage stamp yard. Which explains why you can't muster a ham radio signal.

So much for your in depth analysis moron. Of course, they are probably

That's ok you think I am Lloyd. It's a shame you didn't come to Dayton and run your mouth off. You'll find out I am not Lloyd for sure and find out the hard way. Of course, you're such a coward you would never open the curtanis or doors and come out of your rancid house. You're just a little piece of shit who has a big mouth and when a guy of decent size finds you, youll get a good ass beating. Muahahahahhaha.

That's ok you think I am Lloyd. It's a shame you didn't come to Dayton and run your mouth off. You'll find out I am not Lloyd for sure and find out the hard way. Of course, you're such a coward you would never open the curtanis or doors and come out of your rancid house. You're just a little piece of shit who has a big mouth and when a guy of decent size finds you, youll get a good ass beating. Muahahahahhaha.

hmmm I wonder if the forger of this message knows that even anonymous posts can be tracked, and that police can get the information needed to prosecute.

of course, the best would be to get a internet guru to find out his home address and pass the information to some of the more rough and tumble guys that civilization has. sometimes a good beating can correct all sorts of problems.

You're about 5 foot 10 or so, wiry pussy guy. That's ok mess with someone bigger, faster, and stronger and see what you get. You didn't even have the balls to show at Dayton or anywhere else except hide behind a curtain. You think you're all that but you couldn't beat your way out of a wet paper bag. If you were, then you would have opened the door instead of hiding behind it like a sniveling little bastard. Poor mommas boy.

You may change accounts but we still know you're Scheissman. I'm not Lloyd so I don't know about his dating history, not that it matters anyway. But obviously yours isn't so great because you were a 40 year old momma's boy.

ONE STEP CLOSER (To Become a New One!). It was reported today in the newspaper that "Montenegro's parliament declared independence for the tiny Balkan republic Saturday, forming a new European state and dissolving what was left of the former Yugoslavia." It also mentioned that "The declaration says Montenegro's strategic national goal is integration into the European Union and NATO, and the new country will immediately apply for admission into the United Nations and other international organizations." This is good news for DXers. Once Montenegro becomes a UN member or is assigned a prefix block from the ITU, it will be added to the "ARRL DXCC List". The official start date for DXCC purposes should be the date that Montenegro joins the UN or ITU. ADDED NOTE: Ranko, YT6A, announced late Saturday, June 3rd (edited), "As soon as we become new DXCC country, a large international team will activate a DXpedition as inaugural operation from Montenegro. More to come later..."

However, he will bring back a FT-100 and/or IC-706 MkIIG when he goes home for a short trip in July.

VI9, NORFOLK ISLAND (A Note From VK9NS). Jim, VK9NS, reports: "As you know Kirsti and myself both applied and were issued two licences for the callsigns VI9NL and VI9NS to be used for the upcoming celebrations on Norfolk Island. HIDXA received a letter yesterday from National Licensing and Allocations Branch - basically saying in part 'it has been brought to our attention' that the ACMA does not usually allow more than one Special Event Licence to one organization for the same event. Which I suppose is a fair comment. We have relinquished the use of VI9NL basically as Kirsti will not be here for the complete month. HIDXA retains the use of VI9NS for the month of June 2005." why me the ham to whom you repsonded?

none at all why do you ask?

but it is clear from LONG term expousure to the cw Forever crowd many of them lack much confidence that the mode can survive without the stick of code testing to make hams try it out

You're about 5 foot 10 or so, wiry pussy guy. That's ok mess with someone bigger, faster, and stronger and see what you get. You didn't even have the balls to show at Dayton or anywhere else except hide behind a curtain. You think you're all that but you couldn't beat your door instead of hiding behind it like a sniveling little bastard. Poor mommas boy.

According to one who has seen Scheissman, he is short, perhaps 5'4" or 5'5".
Scheissman's physical features were, according to the man, much like those of Stephen King. He said Roger is short, has thick glasses and puts folks in mind of a little troll.

We have "developer" accounts but are still not supposed to use downloaded software. That makes actually developing software somewhat of a problem when the most cost-effective tool (free) can't be used.

Failure or not, I think the Navy and Marines are going to be stuck with it. The guys at the top are very happy with it, believe it's saving them a bundle, etc.
etc. I can't see how it can be saving any money since the charges to the various users for a computer are monthly and are breathtaking.

As for Ada, it's still around and is actually a pretty successful language, with a special niche of high reliability software having some significant use of Ada. Ada 2005 is, I think, fully specified and maybe even approved as a standard, not sure.

Mr. President?

Hang in there, soon the Congress will pass the constitutional amendment preventing fags from having a piece of paper and all of this country's problems will be solved forever.

2762. K1MAN IS MISSING

It appears as if the self proclaimed leader of ham radio may be on the run or in hideing from the FCC. I just read this on the K1MAN Watch website at http://host.picturewizard.com/2005-7/357648/

Where is Glenn Baxter?

ARRL affiliated stations throughout New England were very active during the May, 2006 flooding emergency there, however, K1MAN's pre-recorded radio bulletins have been largely absent from the airwaves since the FCC issued a Notice of Apparent Liability almost one year ago.

Baxter has not published IARN/AARA news with any regularity, and despite emergency activation of Skywarn, ARES, and the National Guard in New England, Baxter did not activate the IARN bulletin station for the New England emergency.

The last time K1MAN bulletins disappeared was when Riley Hollingsworth of the FCC began to seriously question Baxter's on-air activities in 1999. When K1MAN finally returned to radio he told listeners he had been "teaching school" and that his absence had nothing to do with FCC action concerning his license. As of this writing, IARN/AARA bulletins are absent from the air, and Baxter has not said when, or if, they will ever return.

As we all know the licensing requirement does not eliminate idiots on the bands. Far from it unfortunately.

Keep guessing. A newsletter went out to selected recipients, advising them of what is going on. Obviously, you did not receive one. You should pay more attention to what is going on in Los Angeles and your spelling, instead of being obsessed

Too bad you are off, Lardass, Roger's license shows him to be taller than that.
YOU are the one 5'6" and 300 pounds.

That's because failed writer Heil is jealous of Stephen King an award winning writer, while Heil was relegated to mundane press releases and such while in the Air Force. Poor Davey, he always wanted to write but just didn't have what it took. His daddy wasn't much better, only writing for a newspaper's advice column.

You wouldn't have the balls to stand me or anyone else down. Of course, I am not Lloyd but you can't seem to get that through your pea sized brain. That's ok though because if you ever had the nuts to search me out you would piss and crap yourself. All five foot six of you, muahahahahhaha. Puss boy.

I'm glad to see that you've finally started to send your followups to alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman, Woger. As the NIM Buster's oral person of the year for 2006, you should flaunt your talents and awards and at the same time let people know that you have your own Usenet groups!

Don't let Dave Heil put you down with his condescending posts; instead, point out that Dave has NEVER accomplished the winning of a popular vote as you have done. The NIM Busters regulars elected you "Cocksucker of the Year" for 2006, and you should FLAUNT IT! After all, it proves to people that, Man of Accomplishment that you are, you aren't resting on laurels such as the Golden Peewee Award that the alt.flame regulars awarded you those many long years ago.

Dave doesn't have any news groups named after him, while you have many. Your admirers have created groups named

* alt.asshole.roger-wiseman
* alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman
* alt.fag-lamer.roger-wiseman.chucklehead
* alt.fan.fatassed.woger.wiseman-dicksucker
* alt.idiot.roger-wiseman
* alt.pedophile.roger-wiseman
* alt.binaries.pictures.erotica.gaymen.ab8mq
* alt.fan.AB8MQ

while Dave can point out no similar groups of his own. And Dave doesn't have the Golden Peewee Award or the other awards you've received such as Most Boring Writer, Worst Flamer, Fuckhead of the Year, Most Tenuous Spankclaim, and Best Punching Bag.

I can't understand why you don't point those accomplishments out to Dave when he tries to make you look completely useless.

So go ahead and make Dave feel inferior. Mention your awards and accomplishments, and make him eat humble pie. He deserves it.

We're wooting for you, Woger!

I wanted to make a public posting and state my thanks to Steve Franklin (WB5KGL apparently of Arlington, Texas), who uses name JSF in the usenet. I have 2 MR8100's - older Uniden scanners, and they've had some problems. Suspect that my previous repair shop was hoping to keep one of them for parts he offered to try and repair them for me. One I kept thinking it would be a fairly simple repair of a lead to the power switch, thought I was nervous about doing it myself.

The other I sent to him, and he found the problem and repaired it for me, just to help a guy out. I asked what I could do in thanks, and he didn't want anything.

In fact, his willingness to help and keep at it are what inspired me to repair the other unit myself - because simply, putting and solder set in my hands is asking for trouble.

Anyway - everyone should know there are still great people in the world, people who just like others, love their hobbies, and just do good things. I could be wrong here as this was only one action, but I feel that anyone willing to offer to help a stranger online, and then put the work in and some change to mail the item back, that shows solid character - old school - the way things should be.

THANK YOU STEVE FRANKLIN

2857. Newbie to getting QSL cards

Hi,

Ive always been listening to AM for the purpose of seeing how far away I could recieve signals. I just always thought it really neat that some stations would shut off at sundown, yet we could hear stations from FAR away on AM afterwards. One of the first I recall is when 840 WVPO shut down, and we started getting sound from Louisville, KY afterwards.. from NE PA!

Anyway, Ive finally after many years decided to research about AM radio and getting in far away stations... i didnt realize how much information there is online.

One thing ive never seen in my searching is the whole QSL thing.

It appears that amateur radio folks still like to send QSL cards to one another... and shortwave stations appear to send them too. However, I have not seen anything about people sending out for and collecting QSL cards for "DXing" on broadcast band AM.

Do people do this? Do stations still send out cards if you send a SASE? I think its a really neat thing to do, but all the QSL cards I see onlne are in online museums and are really old...

Any info would be appreciated.

Thanks!

JMH

And let's not forget he claimed that the Marshall County, Alabama ARES website was the ARES website for Marshall County, West Virginia, that SWR is not related to the transmission line loss, and that Eric Clapton wrote the song Layla for fatass Heil's ugly Finnish ex-streetwalker, not for Patty Boyd Harrison. Or how one "operates" a dictionary instead of "uses" one.

But then, ill-educated Saggytits is the product of his drug and alcohol addicted genetically inferior parents. Scheissman thinks I am Lloyd but that's ok because every day it shows how much of a total jackass he really is. I am getting more afraid day by day that he is going to throw one of his fits and hit me with his purse. You know the same one he whipped his mommy with.

Isn't it interesting how these people are obsessed with gay sex? I'm beginning to think they have gay tendencies that are hidden beneath their own masculinity.

In West Virginia, they prefer sheep, sisters, or shemales named Scheissman! That's why Scheissman talks about it so much because he likes it like that! Do you sit around and sing that song, "I like it like that" Scheissman?

Since you use Xnews I will share some info I got from Steve on RRAP to kill all google posts.

After the bracketed name of the groups, you specify a score. I don't bother with elaborate scoring, and instead give all matches a score of -9999. That causes the matching posts to be killed.

So, for all of the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy, plus the flame_fest
news group, you can use the following score file (lines starting with
"%" are comments). Text case is ignored by default, so "get help"
matches "GeT HElp" when specified below.

[rec.radio.amateur.*,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest]
score:: -9999
% Uncomment the next two lines to kill all Google posts plus followups.
% Message-ID: googlegroups\.com

The score file above catches about 90% of the bad guys, even with Google posts and followups still allowed. If you block Google posts and followups, you can omit quite a few of the other rules.

I've been hiding in the closet for quite some time - but not very successfully.
Everyone seems to guess anyway. Oh well.
I've decided to leap out of the closet this year...
After all it is a leap year!
And I like playing leapfrog with my HUD apartment neighbors!

I've had quite a few gay relationships but they all ended bad, so I decided to stop looking for my special someone and sort of wait for fate to lead us to each other. In the meantime I have been concentrating on my web design work, which I find very interesting; even if I'm not very good.
I still get enough rubes willing to try me. Perhaps because I'm too cheap.

I often think, I would still like a family, a relationship, someone to care for me and me for him. I always say that I want a very traditional marriage, some kids, a car, mortgage and romantic dinners holding hands, except that it will be with a guy, not a girl. I am finding it hard to find someone to givce my fatass the Ramrod. My friends all say I don't try hard enough.

Any now that I can get married in New Paltz in upstate New York I don't even have to go to SanFran.

So ... any ideas? Any of you fags want to get married?

Lloyd Davies TIME LORD AND TALK SHOW HOST

I'm loud and I'm proud. I'm gay and I like it that way!
I support Gay Pride! The Ramrod rocks my ass!

Did you ever get the point that the spelling was intentionally misspelled? Or are you so stupid not to get that point? I've known how to spell Florida since I was 5 years old so it's interesting that I wouldn't know it now. But obviously you're not smart enough to get the point that I was poking fun at your stupid ass. Then again you're not exactly the sharpest tool in the shed.

3148. FIGHT THE SPEW!: xnews / slrn score file update

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

The xnews score file which was posted previously has been updated to block some additional free news servers and anonymous remailers. Google has not been blocked (yet), because the score file is now killing 99% of the spew in the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy.

Xnews is a free news reader which does not have to be installed. Simply extract it from the zip file and start running xnews.exe. You can obtain xnews from

http://www.download.com/3000-2164-10144167.html

and you can copy the score file below into score.ini to have an immediately effective filtering system.

An xnews / slrn score file allows you to specify filtering rules for each news group or for a collection of groups. You do that by enclosing the name of the group(s) in square brackets.

After the bracketed name of the groups, you specify a score. I don't bother with elaborate scoring, and instead give all matches a score of -9999. That causes the matching posts to be killed.

So, for all of the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy, plus the flame_fest news group, you can use the following score file (lines starting with "%" are comments). Text case is ignored by default, so "get help" matches "GeT HElp" when specified below. If you don't want to use a rule, simply insert a "%" character as the first character of a rule, or else delete the rule completely.

All licenses should be terminated, immediately, and future testing will be a minimum of 110 wpm Morse code in a language that the applicant does not know. All sent straight key.

Written tests will be changed to essay type. The applicant must demonstrate mastery of all aspects of RF discipline at the PhD level. Since people can look up answers in a book as well as a test question pool, all work must be new and cutting edge. Any answer that can be found in a book will disqualify the applicant.

Upon the successful defense of the applicant's thesis, a 20 year waiting period starts. The work done by the applicant in pursuit of his license must be demonstrated to have a lasting and profound effect upon the RF discipline and especially so on the Amateur radio community.

I've been doing some browsing on the net, but I'm having trouble finding a schematic for a good IC-based transmitter/reciever for CW (or RTTY, AMTOR, etc). Does anyone know of a good circuit/schematic for this?

Thanks in advance,
Dave

Simple or complicated? Mono or multiband?

If you need something simple and monoband just look for "Aquarius" by Tubes are for appliance operators...real hams use SPARK!!! Hmm, wonder what a spark-gap transmitter would do to a BPL Internet deployment. Might have to try...

The problem with this joke is that the wrench exhists. Handedness in a wrench is determined by which thumb closes the jaws. Right thumb right hand wrench, left thumb left handed wrench.

I have a left handed crescent type wrench. Where was it made?
POLAND of course.

Wrench available for inspection.

At 23, I took a job as a young engineer at a place that had previously been a gyroscope manufacturer. As the new guy, they asked my to deliver a briefcase to the boss' office and (you guessed it) there was a spinning gryo in the briefcase. I got a big surprise when I tried to turn a corner in the corrider and the briefcase kept going straight ahead! A great 'new guy' trick.

Come on, that sets the bar way too low.

100 wpm CW, and 45 baud RTTY. RTTY is the wave of the future, after all.

And we add a new class called "Extra Extra Read All About It!" where you have to copy Hellschreiber and PSK31 and copy and whistle 1200 baud packet.

No.
I know a fellow who works in Tech support for a big computer company who says they get questions likes this all the time.

There are several reasons the product has failed to meet your expectations.
1- you have likely installed it upside down.
2- Your antenna is defective, the product is not meant to be used with a defective antenna.
3- Exposure to weather has nullified your warranty.
4- There is an improved replacement product available and you may wish to upgrade at a special price.

Only allow homebrew equipment, and require it to be FCC type accepted before you can put it on the air. No ICs allowed, no purchased coils or Scheissman has a serious gay obsession of having a guy do things to him.

It just shows his nasty ways and how he drools over himself looking for a good buddy. Sorry Weissqueer we are not interested.

has to constantly talk about it.

Scheissman is such a lame assed moron. What you want to guess he's low

He's definitely got some issues there especially with his paranoid rants on here. He's pretty much a lost cause though. Just a matter of time dumb sorry ass numerous times, loser. You couldn't fight you fat tub of BWHWHWAHAHA Says the fat retard pussy who ran his mouth on the k1TP webpage and was a no-show at Dalton, GA hamfest. You didn't go to Dayton, either, lardass, you can't afford any trips, fireed pizza boy.

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I deceided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him,

I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells. Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

Oris Grim

AH! HA! We can dress our daughters in poodle skirts and drive to the testing session in our brand-new 1961
Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan!

Time marches on, boys, and as we age into crotchety old men (Gosh, I hope I don't do the "crotchety" part!), we long for the 'good old days'---whatever THAT was.
Some of us cling desperately to Hallicrafters receivers and Globe King transmitters we bought when our hair was dark and full, and loathe the new 'mini' transceivers (likely because we are befuddled by the menus), and we want Amateur Radio to stay exactly the same as it was just for us! We fuss at the newer automobiles and say "I wish they made 'em the way they used to". I DON'T!
They are actually BETTER than Dad's '65 Galaxie, last longer and run better.
(Try to tell that to the past-dwelling guys who cling frantically to their youth, and they'll lecture you on the virtues of a '56 Chevy AND the 51J2...not that the older stuff isn't "good", just part of the PAST! Which we, BTW, should remember as a basis for advancing into the future.

I don't really like it that CW is going away, but it WILL go away so far as necessity goes same way we don't commute to work in our '56 Fairlane. So we ADAPT to change instead of vainly clinging to the way WE think it should stay forever and a day. When we are dead and gone, the world will be vastly different than we would've remembered it!

Interesting that you pose as him though. By the way, why in the hell would you know so much about him unless you were one of his imaginary friends. You also seem to be as delusional as he is with your inane and stupid comments. Noticeable you have the same pattern of behavior as well.

3340. FIGHT THE SPEW! xnews / slrn score file update

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

Source record: 36256
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.shortwave

The xnews score file which was posted previously has been updated to block some additional free news servers and anonymous remailers. Google has not been blocked (yet), because the score file is now killing 99% of the spew in the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy.

Xnews is a free news reader which does not have to be installed. Simply extract it from the zip file and start running xnews.exe. You can obtain xnews from

http://www.download.com/3000-2164-10144167.html

and you can copy the score file below into score.ini to have an immediately effective filtering system.

An xnews / slrn score file allows you to specify filtering rules for each news group or for a collection of groups. You do that by enclosing the name of the group(s) in square brackets.

After the bracketed name of the groups, you specify a score. I don't bother with elaborate scoring, and instead give all matches a score of -9999. That causes the matching posts to be killed.

So, for all of the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy, plus the flame_fest news group, you can use the following score file (lines starting with "%" are comments). Text case is ignored by default, so "get help" matches "GeT HElp" when specified below. If you don't want to use a rule, simply insert a "%" character as the first character of a rule, or else delete the rule completely.

Yeah, and I've had these two left handed pipe wrenches around for years. This southpaw found them indispensable on galvanized, but can't seem to get them to work on copper pipe.

When I reached my first duty assignment in the USAF I was sent on a fools errand to get 1000 yards of flight line. When I got to the place I was suppose to pick it up I told the guys there that I knew what flightline was but I had an idea for a joke on the guy that sent me down there.They were very happy to help. We went out back of the base and loaded up a truck with rubble from flightline construction then took it back and put it the POV pickup of they guy who had sent me out. When I went back to the shop I told him I had the flightline but didnt think I had the thousand yards he had requested. This got him and everyone else in the shop curious and they all wanted to see what I had brought back. Thats when I told him to go look in the back of his pickup.

Most of you know what this radio is and does. The radio has three modules installed, 2m, 220 & 440.

PAY ATTENTION HERE: The radio works perfect in every respect except that about a month ago the back light started going on and off on its own. It would stay on for a day and then turn off. Then eventually it stayed off.

I reset the unit to factory specs just in case I may have messed up a setting or something but that didn't do it. The readout is there and you can see it fine when it's daylight or if you shine a flashlight at it at night.

I already upgraded so I'm selling this to offset the cost of the new one.

Unit cames with DTMF mic and power cord. NO mounting bracket.
I don't have the manual either but you can get it on ebay or on the web somewhere.

Price: $230 obo. Don't be afraid to counter offer but, don't get crazy.

Remember, this has three bands in it. Not like the other tribands that are being sold for more and only have two modules installed.

It isn't going away any more than tubes are going away or crystal-controlled oscillators are going away. Those of us who wish to use them are free to do so (and this freedom will probably continue for a long time).

Railroad fans admire steam locomotives, car buffs fawn over a Model T and old men love their old wives. But in each case, the object of their affection is, like Morse Code, past its peak of popularity and practicality. Yes, learn Morse, use Morse, even love Morse -- but for crying out loud, stop pretending it's the be-all-end-all of ham radio -- because it isn't.

Yes, yes, yes -- I know Morse Code will get through when other modes fail. I've heard it a hundred times, so it must be true. However, this doleful situation almost never presents itself. If this were a practical view of the world, then we should all buy Army tanks, the better to navigate the rubble of a natural disaster when all other means of transportation are unavailable. (Not a perfect metaphor; work with me, OK?)

Although I have no objection to YOU using Morse Code, I personally resent it because I can't learn it. I've wasted countless hours trying and it just doesn't happen for me. Too bad, so sad. But there are rays of sunshine. The FCC may just lift the requirement off my shoulders before another year passes and in the meantime, maybe I'll rack up more club FD points on UHF/VHF voice than the HF guys on all modes combined. I did it in both 2004 and 2005.

Truth be known? Roger Wussman posts 80% (conservative estimate) of the filthy messages seen here. Woger posts under numerous monikers and the dumbass has the gall to think that the rest of us have no idea who he is!
Woger offers nothing of value. He has nothing of value to offer save for unadulterated filth.
Who else posts 90 plus messages per day and says so little? Wussman's posts are vapid, repetitious, and show Woger to be the fool that he claims not to be. Woger is, in the parlance of street people, a "scumbag". Others describe

What are SWR's? Does your antenna have multiple standing wave ratios?
Were they sick? Did they have MPD? Do you SWR's look in the mirror each morning and say "well, who are we going to be today?"

Does the standing wave ratio own something called "are better"?

Are SWR's related to 73's, and if so does the hat help 73's also? Is your antenna still a fertile female that gets wet whenever a large capacitance hat climbs on top?

Does anyone know how to get this radio into the alignment mode?

I have a copy of the technicial supplement and I have the knowlege and access to the test equipment necessary to realign the radio, However, I have not been sucessful in geting the radio to go into the alignment mode.

I tried to place the radio into alignment mode as described in the technicial supplement but it will not work. When I hold in the MHZ[PRI] and Hyper Memory [5] keys and turn the power on the radio displays F-1 in the upper left corner and SETRST in the display. [According to the operators manual this is supposed to happen if you hold in the MHZ[PRI] key while turning on the power] The next step in the manual is to press each function key in order, left to right, starting with MHZ[PRI] and ending with S.SCH[ARTS} then press and hold the [88]
key until "A-0 REF.xxH" appears in the display.
Pressing these buttons as indicated and holding the [88] key in causes the radio to beep once after about 1/2 second.
But the display does not change from F-1 SETRST

I sure would like to hear from someone who has been able to get thier radio to go into the alignment mode.

Thanks

Methinks your leg was being pulled.

The SWR with the apostrophe s is a grammatical error. The apostrophe s indicates that the SWR is possessive, that the SWR owns something; or, that the SWR is doing something. The apostrophe s is not plural!!

The plural, multiple, SWR is denoted SWRs.

too bad, so sad, indeed

You know, as long as there are effective band plans allowing for CW, data, voice, etc., I really don't care what the FCC does. I learned Morse code as a teenager so I really can't relate to the impossibility of the task. Don't know how THIS old dog would do with a new trick.
All I can say is CW is very enjoyable to me and deserves a prominent place within the bands.

On the contrary, the plural of the letter A is A's. The plural of the number 3 is 3's. It's not too much of a stretch to assume that the plural of SWR is SWR's.

From Webster's: "apostrophe - a make used to indicate ... the plural of letters or figures."

On the contrary, the plural of the letter A is A's. The plural of the number 3 is 3's. It's not too much of a stretch to assume that the plural of SWR is SWR's.

From Webster's: "apostrophe - a make used to indicate ... the

Well, Webster shows more than one error, at least insofar as formal English goes. What Webster depicts is the "dumbing down" of what our kids are being taught today.
Do what you wish, but those who are better educated will continue to use the apostrophe to denote the possessive rather than the plural.

That definition agrees with what I learned in English class 50+ years ago. The plural of a number uses an apostrophe. So 73's would indeed be the plural of 73 as in "many best regards". It's no stretch to assume that the plural of SWR would be SWR's.

Incidentally, I have an obvious typo in the definition that the spell-checker didn't catch. Should have been:

"apostrophe - a mark used to indicate ... the plural of letters or figures."

I have a "Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary"
which contains a "Basic Manual of Style" in the back.
Here's what it says for "Apostrophe: ... 3. To form the plurals of letters or figures add an apostrophe and an s."
That's seems to be prescriptive.

Would a "Basic Manual of Style" change your mind?

I have a "Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary"
which contains a "Basic Manual of Style" in the back.
Here's what it says for "Apostrophe: 1. ... 2. ... 3. To form the plurals of letters or figures add an apostrophe and an s. ..."

It does say that a few people object to number 3. As in many other areas of the English language, the context of the use of the apostrophe determines its function:

1. to replace missing letters,
2. possessive,
3. plurals of letters or numbers.

P.S. The better educated posters avoid violating the attribution rules for newsgroups.

The incredible popularity of "American Idol" and the World Cup are both proof that the bulk of humanity are too stupid to make their own decisions. If a "1-world government" means that France will no long and who said I was talking about you?

sure, the "news provider" is in Italy, they will still give information (if asked the right way). However, it is not the only one in question here.

so, calling me a liar without sufficient evidence. what does that make you? you make the pronouncement that I am a "proven liar". ok, now you need to produce the evidence. one small questions: where are your facts that substantiate your claim?

its put up or shut up time.

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, reports that the following operation is approved for DXCC credit:
T61AA - Afghanistan; Current operation effective May 23rd, 2006

"MONTENEGRO POISED TO BECOME NEWEST DXCC ENTITY" states this week's ARRL Letter. The Republic of Montenegro, which declared its independence on June 3rd, reportedly has now applied for United Nations membership. This is just one more move to pave the way for the tiny Balkan nation to join the ARRL DXCC list. "Once Montenegro is accepted into the UN or obtains a callsign prefix block, DXers will have a new DXCC entity," says ARRL Membership Services Manager Wayne Mills, N7NG. The ARRL Letter states, "The division of Serbia and Montenegro eliminates what remained of Yugoslavia. Serbia's parliament this week declared Serbia a sovereign nation as heir to the former Serbia-Montenegro union. Assuming that Serbia continues to hold its current seat in the UN, it will remain on the DXCC list as a pre-existing and continuing DXCC entity, Mills explained. A decision on whether to admit Montenegro into the UN must go before the UN Security Council and then to the UN General Assembly." The length of this process is at this time unknown.

E2/HS, THAILAND (WARC Bands - "Permission Imminent"). Tony Waltham, HS0ZDX, Editor of the Bangkok Post Database, reports that the long-awaited permission to operate on the WARC bands (30, 17 and 12 meter bands) is just around the corner, according to John (Narissara), HS1CHB, who told those present at the June 4th Radio Amateur Society of Thailand (RAST) meeting. The National Telecommunications Commission (NTC) has agreed to issue a temporary permission for those radio amateurs in Thailand who notify them of their desire to be active on these bands which also includes permission to operate on the 80 and 160 meter bands. This temporary permission will be valid until the end of the year. The RAST officials said that the yet-to-be-formed National Broadcasting Commission would need to be in place before any permanent spectrum changes could be made. To qualify for this privilege, which includes permission to operate on the 80 and 160 meter bands, amateur radio operators should send a copy of their station licence, their equipment licence and their operator's licence to Maj Narissara Shaowanasai, HS1CHB, Post Office Box 1, Bangkok, 10900, Thailand. They should also submit logs of their operations on these bands to HS1CHB on a monthly basis as the NTC requires that these be submitted as well.

LAST MINUTE UPDATE (Provided by Champ E21EIC): John (Narissara), HS1CHB, who is the RAST liaison officer working on this permission, was informed that the NTC will approve the use of the WARC bands and the low bands during the forthcoming week. Details of the frequencies and modes for both the WARC and the low bands will be posted during the coming week on the RAST Web site at: http://www.qsl.net/rast

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
DON'T THROW AWAY THOSE OLD IRCS! Glenn, K2FF, points out to OPDX readers that the date on the current IRCs that reads "31 Dec 06 is an expiration date which simply means they can't be SOLD to customers AFTER that date. However, they can be redeemed forever. Hams simply need to be armed with the copy of the right pages from the International Mail Manual (IMM). Glenn states, "This is right out of the 2006 edition of the International Mail Manual..." Please note the last sentence in very first paragraph: 372 International Reply Coupons

372.1 Description

a. The sender of a letter may prepay a reply by purchasing reply coupons which are sold and exchangeable for postage stamps at post offices in member countries of the Universal Postal Union. The period of exchange of international reply coupons issued by the Universal Postal Union on or after January 1, 1975 is unlimited.

Glenn states, "I still redeem the little old IRCs at my post office here on the MS Gulf Coast!"

UPDATE. Last week we mentioned that Fran, EA7FTR,(who manages many stations) was to be in the hospital. Fran has informed OPDX that he is now out of the hospital and is doing fine. He wants to thank everyone (all the Hams) who were asking about him. He really appreciated it. It was also reported that Fran's son David, EB7AEY/EC7AGG, states that all direct QSL requests for the stations Fran manages have now been put in the mail.

3Y0X (XR9A and CE0Z) QSL STATUS. Bob, N2OO, has posted the following update on the QSL progress dated June 6th, 2006: "Today, we put another 50 pounds of cards in the mail which were all processed last week and at our Sunday, June 4th, SJDXA team QSL session. We also had sent about 10 pounds since our last report, so this brings us to 285 pounds of 3Y�X QSL mail sent to-date. We have now confirmed 27,477 QSO's, or 32% of ALL QSO's made by 3Y�X. I estimate that we have now answered approximately 65% of all requests received. About 95% of all 3Y�X contributor's cards have been answered. Some reasons why some contributors will not have their cards yet are:
* Received recently (approximately last 2 weeks)
* Made special request for separate cards per band, mode and/or per QSO (Too time-consuming right now) Card(s) set aside for "not in log" research
* Sent multiple calls in same envelope
* May have accidentally gotten mixed in with non-contributors (we ARE human)
* Postal service mangled the mail (a small handful came back damaged and "to address" unreadable)

This week, we will begin to "pre-process" the SWL and non-contributor cards. Another QSL session will be scheduled for June 11th and another mailing should be ready for June 12th.

CE�Z update: I understand that the cards have been ordered but they have not arrived here yet. The confirmation pre-process is complete, so once the cards arrive labels will be printed and cards should start to flow 'slowly' as they will be processed by one of our SJDXA QSL team members. When this starts, I will post a new update here.

XR9A, XR9A/8, XR9A/MM update: Log pre-processing was recently begun by another of our SJDXA team QSL members. We had been putting these off in order to better concentrate on the 3Y�X cards. We do have the XR9 cards from the printer so, once the pre-processing is complete, and we figure out how to process the /mm cards properly, we will start to get these out as well. When this starts, I will post a new update here.

PLEASE read the 'QSL PROCESS' below if you haven't done so already. It should answer any other questions you might have regarding our operation. When ALL QSLing is 'current', I will make an announcement on this web site, and there will be a press release made as well. At THAT time, I would welcome ANY and ALL inquiries and pledge to help resolve any lingering QSL issues. PLEASE DO NOT email N2OO at this time! Emails at this time will only slow the process down....."
de N2OO and the SJDXA QSL team!

Use of the apostrophe as a plural designation is rapidly becoming passe'. IIRC it already is in the UK.

Possessive is the new standard.

I get my chops busted if I write with say last year's work instead of last years work.

Is it? I've always wondered. Does the work "belong" to last year?
Does last year "own" the work? It's my work that was done last year.

1. Too bad you have to work for/with people like that. " ... last year's work" is correct. The possessive does not exclusively denote ownership. It also denotes the "of or pertaining to" relationship, as in "Cleveland's bus system."

2. I just went to the McGraw-Hill Learning Center

http://highered.mcgraw-hill.com/sites/076743000x/student_view0/chapter1/apostrophes.html

and took their apostrophe quiz

Results Reporter
Out of 17 questions, you answered 17 correctly, for a final grade of 100%.

17 correct (100%)
0 incorrect (0%)
0 unanswered (0%)

Here's the most interesting one:

Last years womens softball team is much better than this years. [The stem omits apostrophes.]

C) Last year's women's softball team is much better than this year's.
Feedback: Correct!

3. Despite the absolute correctness of the apostrophe for the plural of numbers and letters, I see a lot of acronyms and abbreviations made plural by the addition of an "s" without the apostrophe and I don't flinch. I think the language is evolving regarding acronyms, which, after all, are less than 100 years old. Therefore, I vote to accept "SWRs."

I have a similar inability to relate, but it has to do with math. Most of it I ever studied came easily to me. However, some poor souls cannot regard simple real life situations in terms of math. For example, E-max for my lovely bride is the checkbook. That's it. [How many square yards in a 9 x 12 foot carpet? Duh - what color is it?]

I learn new tricks every day. Morse Code isn't one of them.

Everybody is correct and everybody is wrong.

According to Turabian's "A Manual for Writers", plurals of most single and multiple capital letters used as nouns are formed by adding "s" alone. Example: SWRs Form the plural of small letters, capital letters with periods, and capital letters that would be confusing if "s" alone were added by adding apostrophe and "s".

Now, everybody, back to work and mind your p's and Qs

The real issue is probably that HF privileges are probably just not that important to you. I have enough hearing problems that learning Morse was darn hard. 60-70 db tinnitus, (est) and hearing holes in the higher frequencies, and just can't hear for crap.

When I got my Tech license, a lot of people told me that "Morse code is going away any day now, no need to learn that stuff".

I'm glad I didn't listen to them - I have had HF access for 6 years now, and if learning Morse was the price I had to pay, then it was worth it. YMMV

Since it may be a couple years more until the Morse code test is eliminated (if even then) my decision is looking better all the time.

That certainly seems confusing to me and the confusion is not apparent until more than halfway through the sentence.

A's in words like, "amen", are pronounced "ah".

No confusion there.

I just happened to look at NewsMax.com for the first time in a long time, and I found a story on the flavanoids found in hops. One type can prevent prostate cancer. As the story at http://www.newsmax.com/archives/articles/2006/6/12/94011.shtml?s=he goes on to say:

"... the ingredient is present in such small amounts that a person would have to drink more than 17 beers to benefit."

I think I can manage that, but just barely. Maybe Mark Morgan's method of beer ingestion would be more efficient in reaching the prostate. I may have to rethink his postings. Maybe Mark is onto something.

(This space reserved for Mark to post "get help".)

Reminds me of the time I tried to quit smoking and the nurse asked how long
I had smoked and I replied "I started about the age of three" She looked at me funny and said " Why so young? " and I explained "Well I was drinking

a reminder of a specific law that was revised by the 2005 Justice Dept Reauthorization Act) will get their attention (its called 47 USC 223).

I actually got a human to respond back from them today after a report over the weekend. they said they will be forwarding my information and their data off to the offending ISP.

I have a sneaking suspicion that someone is going to lose their "fat pipe cable/DSL" for forging my identity. I certainly hope so, but I won't hold my breath. Still, a properly worded e-mail can have beneficial effects, no?

Dear sir:

The FCC has been dumbing down ham radio for several years now. This has hurt the integrity of the service and is bad for America. They are planning to dumb it down again really soon now and their plan will make ham radio like CB and it will be bad for America. We already have one CB service, we don't need two. Please pressure the FCC to endorse the following items for the good of the service and County.
God bless America.

Signed
(Your name & callsign)

No more automatic renewals. Individuals must retest and pass all elements required for their license class.

The passing score for written exams needs to be raised to 85%.

Code elements should be 13 wpm for General, and 20 wpm for Extra.

Make the no-code license one year non-renewable.

when I took my test, some math was still required (along with knowing where you were legally allowed, etc.).

I have had chance to read the latest offerings in the test pool.

I'd like to see them bring back the math problems (antenna theory, ohms law and the like).

Possibly it's something in the water up there. Perhaps those three gentlemen ought to form a new ham club in Denver? That's enough members to qualify for a club-station license.

Then you fail to recruit new blood into the hobbie. Certainly they should have restrictions, but you need to have a no-code ticket available, otherwise why leave 11 meters. I do not want to learn the code, I have no interest in learning the code, I never plan to use code, but someday I may change my mind, and when that day comes I can test and move up in class. We recruited more new blood into the "hobbie" when the Novice required code (if you can't learn 5wpm, there's no way you could learn enough theory to pass the old exams - and there's more theory to know these days) AND one year non-renewable than we do now. There are reasons there's less new blood, but code isn't one of them.

Good question. Ask those who did back in the early 60s - when code was required. Maybe just listening to 11 meters, then listening to 20 meters, is reason enough.

Since tens of thousands of hams "returned" when code was required, your basic premise is wrong. You wouldn't return if code were required, but you aren't everyman. (Try the old General as the "entry level" exam, 13 wpm and pretty stiff theory, with the only upgrade being the Class A ticket. And yet, many many hams went that route.)

Reagan may have wanted a WW3, but he didn't use drugs. The documentary I saw about JFK said he had a Dr. shooting him up with meth up to 5 times a day.
I'm not the conspiracy theory type of person, but I can see why a government organization would want him dead.

Gee do all hams in Colorado think like this or only ones in Denver? Get a

Reagan didn't need anything external to alter his mind - he had Alzheimer's. And Nancy, who had a large hand in running the White House, did so with a fortune teller's advice.

He had a doctor giving him pain killers - because he wrecked his back.

The fact that he "ruined" government (government as it was, at any rate), might have something to do with that.

Said by someone looking at it from the perspective of having spent a lot of time studying the times, eh?
